THE AMERICAN CORRECTIONAL ASSOCIATION

Preamble

The American Correctional Association expects of its members unfailing honesty, respect for the dignity and individuality of human beings, and a commitment to professional and compassionate service. To this end we subscribe to the following principles.

Relationships with clients, colleagues, other professions, and the public

Members will respect and protect the civil and legal rights of all clients.

Members will serve each case with appropriate concern for the client's welfare and with no purpose of personal gain.

Relationships with colleagues will be of such character to promote mutual respect within the profession and improvement of its quality of service.

Statements critical of colleagues or their agencies will be made only as these are verifiable and constructive in purpose.

Members will respect the importance of all elements of the criminal justice system and cultivate a professional cooperation with each segment.

Subject to the client's rights of privacy, members will respect the public's right to know, and will share information with the public with openness and candor.

Members will respect and protect the right of the public to be safeguarded from criminal activity.

Professional conduct/practices

No member will use his or her official position to secure special privileges or advantages.

No member, while acting in an official capacity, will allow personal interest to impair objectivity in the performance of duty.

No member will use his or her official position to promote any partisan political purposes.

No member will accept any gift or favor of such nature to imply an obligation that is inconsistent with the free and objective exercise of professional responsibilities.

In any public statement members will clearly distinguish between those that are personal views and those that are statements and positions on behalf of an agency.

Members will be diligent in their responsibility to record and make available for review any and all case information which could contribute to sound decisions affecting a client or the public safety.

Each member will report without reservation any corrupt or unethical behavior which could affect either a client or the integrity of the organization.

Members will not discriminate against any client, employee or prospective employee on the basis of race, sex, creed or national origin.

Members will maintain the integrity of private information; they will neither seek personal data beyond that needed to perform their responsibilities, nor reveal case information to anyone not having proper professional use for such.

Any member who is responsible for agency personnel actions will make all appointments, promotions or dismissals only on the basis of merit and not in furtherance of partisan political interests.

D-risk

Finally a no-cost practical monitoring program
for Low Risk and No Risk Offenders

Probation - Parole, Pre-trial, or Pre-sentencing supervision

Other community control programs

BENEFITS:

1. The D-risk service is at no cost, requires no budgets nor capital outlay on the part of each jurisdiction.
2. The entire cost of the D-risk service is borne by the offender, with a charge of two dollars ($2.00) per minute per call (average call length two minutes) being charged to the offenders residential telephone.
3. The D-risk service provides a complete administrative service for each jurisdiction.
4. Digital Corrections Corporation (DCC), through the D-risk service, engages in co-operative revenue sharing with each jurisdiction.
5. The D-risk service provides a very high level of supervision at a very nominal cost.
6. The DCC D-risk service reduces the liability of various probation agencies.

HOW IT WORKS:

D-risk is a fully automatic interactive voice activated computer system that operates over regular telephone lines and standard tone telephones. The system puts the burden and cost of supervising no/low risk offenders on the offender. With the D-risk system, an offender is required to make regular calls to the computer. Using voice response and tone technology, the offender is queried and his file automatically up-dated.

D-risk

The industry's most cost-effective solution to excessive probation case load and skyrocketing supervision costs.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Preliminary steps in updating this directory were to contact several probation and parole professionals for their opinions and suggestions as to how to improve the 1985 edition. Their comments were incorporated into a comprehensive questionnaire, mailing lists were carefully updated, a data base program was created, and we were on our way. We appreciate the time and effort of those professionals who expressed their opinions and concerns by participating in the process to determine the contents of this publication.

We wish to express our gratitude to the hundreds of large and small probation and parole/aftercare department administrators who supplied information for this resource document. Their generous spirit of cooperation and professional concern make possible the publication of this directory.

PREFACE

This third edition of the Probation and Parole Directory is a significant accomplishment for the American Correctional Association. We are indebted to all who supplied the valuable and extensive information on the pages that follow. Practitioners, researchers, public officials, planners, legislators, county commissioners and citizens will find this publication indispensable for adult and juvenile probation and parole/aftercare information in the United States. The directory provides data on systems, philosophies, salaries and logistics of the majority of municipal, county, state and federal probation and parole departments.

Probation and parole systems are vital components of the correctional continuum. Without such important programs, the delicate balance of corrections which has been established to help minimize public anxiety about crime control would be damaged appreciably.

The professionals who provide probation and parole services face the constant challenge of multiple roles. They supervise and counsel; they promote jobs for clients and develop community interest to help clients. In addition, they form liaisons with the criminal and juvenile justice agencies. The probation and parole practitioners' respective multifaceted roles form the basis of sound community based programs that help insure public safety. The criminal justice system would fail without probation and parole services.

The success of the first and second editions, published in 1981 and 1985, indicates the value of this directory. As always with directories, the goal is to receive data from every contact–in this case, three separate mailings and numerous phone calls went out to over 1,600 departments and boards. Information on 1,636 regional, district and sub-offices was updated with names and phone numbers of chief officers or supervisors. In certain instances judges and other staff are listed for a total identification of more than 5,300 probation, parole and aftercare personnel. Statistics on programs, budget, personnel and client caseloads are well represented, but not quite complete. The final goal remains elusive when contacting thousands of departments.

For more detailed information regarding any system, do not hesitate to contact the jurisdiction directly. If you have any questions or comments about this all new third edition contact the ACA office through the Directories, Statistics and Research Department, phone (301) 206-5051, extension 205 or 206.

Information in this directory is as of February 1, 1989. Every effort has been made to be accurate at publication date, however, subsequent changes in structure, policy or systems are inevitable.

➧ PROBATION AND PAROLE SERVICES

ALABAMA

The Board of Pardons and Paroles considers for parole all adults committed to state correctional institutions. The Board has three full-time members who are appointed by the Governor with the approval of the Senate.

The Board of Pardons and Paroles' Service Office is administratively established within the Board of Pardons and Paroles. The office administers twelve area offices, which in turn administer 52 branch offices serving the 67 counties in the state. This Board has responsibility for adult probation and parole services.

Each of the 67 counties has a court-assigned juvenile court responsibility. Two of the 67–Jefferson and Montgomery Counties–have Family Courts. These courts are part of a Unified State Court System. The judge of the Juvenile or Family Court has ultimate authority for all juvenile court functions. The Department of Youth Services establishes standards for certification of probation officers and subsidizes county probation departments. In effect, juvenile probation is provided by the state financially (50%) and by the counties (actual manpower). Juvenile Probation/Parole Offices supervise all juveniles placed on probation or aftercare.

The Board of Pardons and Paroles is an independent state agency whose seven members are appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate for staggered five-year terms. The Board is responsible for parole decisions for all adult felons committed to the Department of Corrections. They also review executive clemency applications and make recommendations to the Governor regarding these actions.

Adult and juvenile parole services are provided by the Department of Corrections. Adult parole services are the function of the Adult Community Services Division. Juvenile parole services are the function of the Juvenile Services Division.

Adult and juvenile probation services are the function of the state court system. Twenty-five county probation departments in the 15 counties provide local services with state level services monitoring and funding provided by the Administrative Office of the Courts. The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court is the administrative head of the court.

ARKANSAS

Act 937 of 1989 abolished the Board of Pardons and Paroles and the Board of Community Rehabilitation to create the Board of Parole and Community Rehabilitation. The Board is an independent seven member (three full-time, four part-time) Board vested with the paroling authority for the state. The Board works in conjunction with the parole staff of the Department of Correction. They are responsible for pardon, parole and clemency action. Adult parole services are under the jurisdiction of the Department of Correction, Division of Pardons and Paroles.

The Arkansas Adult Probation Commission was established through Act 151 of 1983. Adult probation services subsequently were transitioned from the Department of Correction to the nine-member Commission which is responsible for administering statewide probation services to the circuit courts.

The Commission on Community Based Rehabilitation was established through Act 378 of 1975, also known as the Alternative Service Act. The Commission is composed of six members who have the responsibilities of certifying Alternative Service Programs, recommending the release of inmates sentenced under this Act, and expunging the records of the offenders who successfully complete their sentence under this Act.

Juvenile services are under the jurisdiction of the circuit and chancery courts. Each of the 75 counties maintains autonomous probation, parole and intake offices. In several instances, additional services are provided to youth by contractual agreements with the Division of Children and Family Services, Department of Human Services through a network of community-based centers throughout the state. Parole services are offered by Reintegration Counselors within these community-based centers.

CALIFORNIA

Three parole boards come under the auspices of the Youth and Adult Correctional Agency: the Board of Prison Terms (paroles adults; the Youthful Offender Parole Board (paroles juveniles and youthful offenders); and the Narcotic Addict Evaluation Authority.

The Board of Prison Terms is a full-time board which sets prison terms for adults. Its commissioners are appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate. Responsibility includes parole consideration hearings for life prisoners not covered by the Determinate Sentence Law, parole revocation, disparate sentence review, and investigations for the Governor on clemency applications.

The Narcotic Addict Evaluation Authority, which consists of seven part-time members who are appointed by the Governor, is the releasing authority for individuals committed by the Superior Court to the California Rehabilitation Center under the Civil Addict Program. The Board also considers cases of outpatients and Civil Addict Parolees who violate their conditions of release /parole.

Adult parole services are provided by the Department of Corrections' Parole and Community Services Division.

Juvenile aftercare is supervised by the Department of Youth Authority's Parole Services Branch. Adult and juvenile probation services are provided by the counties.

CONTINUOUS SIGNALING SYSTEM (ACTIVE)

The basic component of Guardian's Radio Frequency (RF) System is a computer in the home connected by telephone lines to the monitoring center. This system requires the offender to wear a tamper resistant, waterproof ankle bracelet. If the offender moves beyond the bounds of confinement, the signal is interrupted between the bracelet and the computer. This results in prompt notification to the monitoring center.

PROGRAMMED CONTACT SYSTEM (PASSIVE)

The Guardian Speaker Verification system requires that the offender speak into a voice analyzer at both randomly selected and preselected times to verify his or her presence.

ALCOHOL TESTING

The Breath Alcohol Testing Feature requires the offender to take a breath test at random times to test his or her blood alcohol concentration (BAC). This feature, when combined with the speaker verification feature, provides a powerful system for both monitoring and rehabilitating the offender.

MONITORING SERVICE

Guardian's national monitoring center operates 7 days a week, 24 hours a day. Its bilingual staff reports on program compliance, enabling communication with Spanish-speaking probationers. This relieves you of the administrative concerns for staffing and equipment maintenance. Guardian provides fiber-optic network phone lines, FAX capabilities for immediate agency reporting, multiple incoming WATTS lines, and an uninterrupted power supply.

CUSTOMER SERVICE

7 days a week, 24 hours a day, Toll Free, product and client support services. Any time you have a question or need assistance, a trained service representative is available.

IGNITION INTERLOCK SYSTEM

The Guardian Interlock™ consists of a hand-held breath alcohol analyzer and a microcomputer connected to the car's electrical system. In order to start the car, the driver must first blow into the analyzer which measures blood alcohol concentration (BAC). If the driver's BAC exceeds the setting on the device, the car will not start.

PORTABLE BREATH TESTER

The Alert® J4 is our hand-held, breath tester that reliably identifies the presence of breath alcohol. The full feature design provides objective, unbiased information.

LEASING ADVANTAGE

By leasing Guardian's equipment, you avoid costly upfront financing. Plus, we will continually update your system components so the most advanced technology is always working for you.

COLORADO

The Board of Parole is comprised of five full-time members appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate. They are an independent agency with paroling authority for adults only.

Parole supervision is administered through the Division of Community Services of the Department of Corrections.

The Juvenile Parole Board, an independent agency within the Department of Institutions, consists of seven part-time members who are appointed by the Governor. The Board has authority to grant, defer, suspend, or revoke all paroles of a child committed to the Department of Institutions as a delinquent.

The Division of Youth Services, under the Department of Institutions, provides aftercare services for juveniles.

Adult and juvenile probation services are a function of the Colorado Judicial Department. These services are combined in every district except the 2nd Judicial District (Denver) which has separate adult and juvenile services.

CONNECTICUT

The Board of Parole is an autonomous agency (assisted administratively by the Department of Correction) which consists of eleven members appointed by the Governor with the consent of either the House of Representatives or the Senate. The Chairman serves full-time, the other members serve part-time. The Chairman assigns members to panels of three (including the Chairman) for each correctional institution. These panels are the actual paroling authority. The panels make release, revocation, and rescission decisions on all individuals serving indeterminate sentences for crimes committed prior to July 1, 1981 only. The Board also has the authority to grant medical parole to any inmate serving any sentence who has been diagnosed as being terminally ill and incapable of committing a crime.

Parole supervision and services are provided by the staff of the Division of Parole under the direct administration of the Deputy Commissioner for Field Services within the Department of Correction. Since 1968, Connecticut has had a unified state system of corrections which includes responsibility for all jails, institutions, and parole services.

Adult probationers over the age of 16 are under the supervision of the Department of Adult Probation.

The Superior Court-Juvenile Matters exercises exclusive and original jurisdiction over uncared for, neglected and dependent children under 16, except for a limited category of Serious Juvenile Offenders subject to mandatory waiver to the criminal docket.

The Parole and Probation Commission, an autonomous full-time agency whose six members are appointed by and are responsible to the Governor and his Cabinet, is responsible for making decisions concerning the release of adults on parole.

The Department of Corrections supervises adult felon probationers and parolees. Probation and Parole Field Services is administered through five regional offices, 20 circuit offices, which parallel the Judicial Circuit boundaries, and 98 branch offices. Investigative and supervisory services are provided for both the Circuit Courts and the Parole Commission. Community Control, a program resulting from the Correctional Reform Act of 1983, provides for house arrest as an alternative to prison.

A statewide Pretrial Intervention Program is also administered by the Department of Corrections as well as the operation of Probation and Restitution Centers. Contract provisions are made through the Department for the supervision of misdemeanants by local entities.

Juveniles are placed on probation or aftercare by the Community Control and Furlough Program within the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services' Children, Youth and Families Program Office. Community services and restitution are a major part of community control. Juvenile offenders work in these programs for a specified number of hours as part of court-ordered supervision.

The Board of Pardons and Parole is an independent agency which reviews adult parole cases and provides field parole supervision. It is also the only state agency vested with the power to grant clemency.

The Probation Division under the Department of Corrections is responsible for services on the state and county level (field supervision, Probation/Resititution/Diversion and Detention Centers).

Juvenile intake and probation services are provided through three different organizational forms. The Department of Human Resources' Division of Youth Services provides intake and probation services in 118 counties as well as statewide parole services. In 13 counties, intake and probation services are provided by staff of county-operated and financed juvenile courts. In 28 counties, these responsibilities are shared by both Division of Youth Services' staff and county staff.

ILLINOIS

The Prisoner Review Board is an independent agency comprised of twelve members appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate to six year staggered terms. It is the paroling authority for both adult and juvenile offenders, although most adult offenders are serving determinate sentences and are released at one half of their court imposed sentences. The Board hears cases of parole and release violations and imposes sentences for same. The Board may revoke and restore good conduct credits recommended by the Department of Corrections of thirty days or more per year.

The Department of Corrections is responsible for the supervision of all committed persons placed on parole or mandatory supervised release, and supervises them in accordance with the conditions set by the independent Prisoner Review Board. The Community Services Division is responsible for adults who have completed their sentences. The Deputy Director of the Division reports to the Director of the Department.

The Juvenile Division provides field services to juveniles through parole supervision, alternative placements and coordination of community services. Correctional parole agents are assigned to each youth soon after admission. In the community, the Parole Agent acts as a service and counseling advocate for youth. Their duties include interaction with local agencies and programs to enlist resources to assist youth in continuing their education and/or vocational training upon release as well as obtaining group or foster home placements for youth unable to return to their natural home, and providing crisis intervention to youth experienceing adjustment problems on their return to the community.

Adult and juvenile probation services and detention services are administered by the circuit courts in each of the 102 counties and funded by the counties. Qualifying county departments receive varying amounts and rates of salary subsidies to improve and expand court services by the Administrative Office of the Illinois Courts, Probation Division. One hundred percent grant-in-aid reimbursement is provided to select counties to administer new programs to divert adult and juvenile offenders from commitment to state correctional facilities. All salary reimbursement and grant-in-aid is contingent on compliance with state regulations set down by the Supreme Court, including workload and operational standards, annual participation in professional training, annual service planning, statistical reporting, and monitoring evaluation of all court services. Supervision of the adult and juvenile Interstate Compacts are vested in the Probation Division.

INDIANA

The Indiana Parole Board consists of five full-time paid members appointed by the Governor. Parole is considered at the expiration of a minimum term for indeterminate sentence prisoners by the Board which also acts as the Governor's Clemency Commission. Prisoners serving life sentences are eligible for parole consideration after serving 20 years if the offense was either first or second degree murder and after 15 years for any other offense, which resulted in the sentence of life. The Juvenile Parole Committee grants parole to juveniles committed to state institutions.

The Parole Services Section supervises adult and juvenile parolees through administration of seven district offices serving 92 counties.

Probation services for both adults and juveniles are administered at the county level under the supervision of the Judicial Conference of Indiana, an organization consisting of all of the state's full-time judges of courts of record. The Judicial Conference is governed by a Board of Directors which is chaired by the Chief Justice of the Indiana Supreme Court. Probation officers are county employees directly supervised and employed by the judge/s in the county. The Judicial Conference has responsibility for administering the examination of prospective probation officers, and for conducting educational programs for probation officers, and developing standards for probation services. The Indiana Judicial Center collects statistics concerning home detention and electronic monitoring of probationers. The Division of State Court Administration collects all other probation data.

IOWA

The Board of Parole, an independent agency reporting to the Governor, reviews adult felony cases of the state correctional facilities. The Department of Corrections, Division of Community Correctional Services has funding and oversight responsibilities. Community Based Corrections has eight judicial district departments of correctional services. The administration of each district is accomplished by a board of directors. Each board is comprised of a county board of supervisor member from each county in the district, plus judicial appointees, advisory committee members or citizen representatives. The districts provide comprehensive programs statewide for adult offenders, including pre-trial release services and supervision, presentence investigation, probation, parole, work release, and interstate compact. Four districts provide intensive supervision programs for pre-trial, probation and parole cases. There are sixteen residential/work release facilities operated within the state, serving pre-institutional offenders, work releasees and operating while intoxicated offenders.

Juveniles are released (parole) upon the order of the committing court and are supervised by the Bureau of Adult, Children and Family Services within the Department of Human Services. The county court retains jurisdiction of these youth, and the court must order any change in placement.

Juvenile probation services in eight judicial districts are provided by juvenile court officers and other personnel appointed and administered by each district's Chief Juvenile Court Officer in accordance with the rules and procedures of the State Judicial Department.

KANSAS

The Kansas Parole Board is a five-member Board appointed by the Governor to four year terms. The Board meets full-time to review cases for adult offenders, hold initial hearings, public and institutional (closed) parole hearings, investigate clemency applications and discharge parolees.

The Department of Corrections, Parole Services, provides supervision for parolees and Interstate Compact probation and parole cases. There are five district offices statewide.

Conditional Release Supervision (parole) is a function of the Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services in cooperation with the Courts. The superintendent of the institution to which a youth is admitted determines the release date for that individual. Paroles are administered by area offices of the Department.

Adult and juvenile probation and presentence investigations are administered by the Court Services Division of the District Courts, except where independent municipal court offices have been established.

LOUISIANA

The Board of Parole is an independent agency whose five full-time members are appointed by the Governor. Their duties include the review of adult cases to determine appropriate parole action. It has no administrative function over probation and parole officers.

Corrections Services' Division of Probation and Parole supervises all adult probationers and parolees (with the exception of Criminal Neglect of Family). Both the courts and the Board of Parole are serviced by the Division. The Division administers four regional offices, which in turn administer 18 district offices serving the 64 parishes of the state. DeRidder and Oakdale have independent city court probation.

Juveniles are paroled by the committing judge, who sets the parole date for juveniles placed in state training schools. The Office of Juvenile Services, within the Department of Public Safety and Corrections, Corrections Services, supervises juveniles placed on aftercare and probation, except where family and juvenile court probation departments have been established. Eleven district offices serve the 64 parishes in the state.

MARYLAND

The Maryland State Parole Commission consists of seven full-time, paid members whose jurisdiction extends to local city and county jails. Members of the Commission are appointed by the Secretary of Public Safety and Correctional Services with the approval of the Governor and advice and consent of the Senate. The Commission is responsible for granting parole, reviewing requests for warrants for alleged parole violation, recommending executive clemency requests to the Governor, and evaluating parolees' performance when on parole.

The Division of Parole and Probation, an agency of the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services, supervises parolees and probationers and assists them in successfully reintegrating into the community. The Division administers a community service program as an alternative to supervised probation and incarceration, a viable citizen volunteer services program, and provides supervision and investigation services to the courts and parole authority. The state is administratively divided into four geographic regions, each headed by a Regional Administrator who reports to the Assistant Director for Field Operations.

Juveniles placed on aftercare and probation are supervised by the Department of Juvenile Services. The state's 24 political jurisdictions are geographically separated into ten regions. The Supervisors for each region administer the services for their respective regions and are responsible to an Assistant Secretary for Field Services. Detention and committment institutions for juvenile offenders are administered and staffed by the Department of Juvenile Services.

The Parole Board is an independent agency within, but not subject to, the Department of Correction. The Board also serves as the Advisory Board of Pardons for the Governor. The Parole Board is responsible for the granting and revocation of parole for all commitments to state prison, reformatory and county houses of corrections serving a sentence of 60 days or more from either the Superior or District Court. Parole Board members are appointed by the Governor and serve five year terms.

Adult parole supervision is provided by a field staff under the direction of the Chief Parole Supervisor. Parole officers are responsible to a Regional Supervisor who reports to the Deputy Chief Parole Supervisor. Eight regional offices serve the 14 counties in the state.

The Department of Youth Services is responsible for supervising juveniles placed on parole.

Adult and juvenile probation are the functions of the county courts. Each Chief Probation Officer reports to the judge of his or her court. The Commissioner of Probation, who is appointed by the Committee of Chief Justices, establishes standards.

MICHIGAN

The Parole Board is made up of seven full-time Civil Service members who are also members of the Department of Corrections. The Board review all adult parole cases.

The Bureau of Field Services, under the Department of Corrections, administers adult parole and felony probation services. The state is divided into three regions in which supervisors oversee the county and state probation and parole agents and corrections centers. Adult misdemeanant probation services are provided by District Courts throughout the state. The District Courts are supported by the jurisdiction in which they are located (either municipalities or counties). Several districts do not have probation departments; the magistrate in these districts or volunteers supervise probationers.

The Youth Parole and Review Board, under the Department of Social Services, is a full-time agency whose three members conduct parole hearings for juveniles. In conjunction with the Board, there are also five Administrative Law Judges who conduct hearings. Under legislation passed in 1988, the Youth Parole and Review Board will be discontinued within three years.

The administration of the juvenile probation system falls within the purview of the state, the Court Administrator and the county levels of government. The Office of Children and Youth Services is required to provide consultation and assistance to juvenile probation workers. In all counties, juvenile courts are divisions of probate courts and have exclusive original jurisdiction over delinquent children and concurrent jurisdiction over neglected and dependent children under 17. Minors who have committed felony crimes after their 15th birthday may be waived to adult court (circuit) for trial.The Juvenile Courts may commit youth to the Department of Social Services for treatment services which may include aftercare. These juveniles are subject to the Youth Parole and Review Board.

MINNESOTA

The Commissioner of the Department of Corrections has responsibility for parole and supervised release. With the exception of the parole of inmates with life sentences, this parole authority is delegated to the Office of Adult Release, consisting of the Executive Officer of Adult Release and three departmental staff who are assigned part-time to assist the Executive Officer. An advisory panel composed of departmental employees advises the Commissioner regarding inmates with life sentences. The delegation of authority provides for the Executive Officer to grant parole and work release; to revoke parole, work release and supervised release; to discharge persons under indeterminate sentences; and to approve the condition of parole, work release, and supervised release. The Minnesota Corrections Board (parole board) was legislatively abolished on June 30, 1982.

The Executive Officer of Juvenile Release, under the authority of the Commissioner, is the paroling authority for juveniles.

Probation, parole and supervised release are provided by the state and counties in different manners. Counties participating in the state Community Corrections Act (one-third of the counties; two-thirds of the state population) provide probation, parole and supervised release services to both adults and juveniles. In the remaining counties, adult probation, parole and supervised release services are provided by the state while juvenile probation and parole services are provided by county personnel or through contracts with the state.

The Board of Probation and Parole, the adult paroling authority, is appointed by the Governor and is under the supervision of the Director of the Department of Corrections. The Board administers probation and parole services and provides investigative and supervisory services to the Circuit Courts of the state. It also provides investigative and supervisory services on a limited basis to several smaller counties and, to a larger extent, St. Louis City and Jackson County (Kansas City) for recognizance releases.

Juvenile probation and parole services are provided by probation officers assigned to the 44 Circuit Courts serving 115 counties. Exceptions are juveniles sentenced to the state institutions who are administered by the Department of Social Services' Division of Youth Services upon release.

MONTANA

The paroling authority for adult offenders is the Board of Pardons. Three part-time members are appointed by and are responsible to the Governor.

Adult probationers and parolees are supervised by the Community Corrections Bureau under the Corrections Division of the Department of Institutions.

Juvenile aftercare services were transferred to the newly created Department of Family Services on July 1, 1987. Juvenile parolees are supervised through five regional administrators.

Juvenile probation services are administered locally by judicial districts which are funded by the counties.

NEBRASKA

The Board of Parole, the paroling authority for adult offenders, is comprised of five full-time members appointed by the Governor. If the offender is granted parole, he is then referred to the office of Parole Administration. The Board of Parole may advise the Board of Pardons (Governor, Attorney General, and Secretary of State) on the merits of any application for remission, respite, reprieve, pardon or commutation, but such advice is not binding.

The Adult Parole Administration, within the Department of Correctional Services, provides parole supervision for adults. The Juvenile Parole Administration, within the Division of Juvenile Services, provides supervision to juveniles. Release dates for juveniles are granted at the discretion of the superintendent of the particular institution.

The State Probation System is responsible for adults and juveniles placed on probation through the courts. The Administrator of the State Probation System reports to the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Supervision is maintained through 20 district offices and 21 satellite offices.

NEVADA

The Board of Parole Commissioners is an autonomous board consisting of five full-time members who are appointed by the Governor to four year terms. They meet once monthly at each of five state prisons to review adult paroles and hold parole revocation hearings.

The Board of Pardons (Governor, Attorney General, five Supreme Court Justices) meets twice yearly to consider commutations and pardons.

Adult parole and probation services are administered by the Department of Parole and Probation in all the counties. The Department prepares presentence reports on convicted felons and gross misdeameanants for 35 District Courts a[illegible] supervises individuals placed on probation by these courts as well as parolees released by the Board of Parole Commissioners.

Juvenile Parole is administered at the state level under the Department of Human Resources through the Youth Services Division and the Nevada Youth Parole Bureau. Juvenile paroles and releases are determined by procedures established for such reviews by the superintendents of the State Youth Training Centers.

Juvenile probation services are administered by district juvenile courts at the county level. The majority of the state's population reside in Clark (Las Vegas) and Washoe (Reno) Counties.

NEW JERSEY

The State Parole Board is a full-time board composed of a chairman and eight associate members appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. The Board is comprised of panels for adult, young adult and juvenile cases. The members are further paired to hear county jail cases. The Board is the paroling authority for all offenders committed as adults, young adults or juveniles in the state plus county jail inmates with terms in excess of 60 days. The Board also investigates and advises the Governor on all applications for executive clemency. In 1984, a Victim Input Program was started. The Board considers the testimonies of victims of first and second degree crimes in making decisions.

The Bureau of Parole provides supervision for parolees by making available the necessary assistance, guidance and controls required for community living. Further, it provides a residential treatment service for selected parolees designed toward a reorientation of their attitudes and life styles and a subsequent restoration of them to the community. The Bureau further carries out investigative and support services to the work/study release and furlough programs and conducts clemency investigations for the office of Governor.

The institutional parole officers provide the necessary link between the institution and the field parole offices in preparole planning and resolution of community problems prior to parole. The Bureau is involved with all parolees aged 14 and older who are released from the state's correctional institutions in addition to parolees from other state jurisdictions accepted under the terms of the interstate compact.

As a judicial function established by statute, probation is a disposition which may be imposed on both adults and juveniles as an alternative to confinement in state or county facilities. The Supreme Court, under the leadership of the Chief Justice, is responsible for setting statewide probation policy. The Assistant Director for Probation at the state level Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) coordinates day to day programs and activities, maintains responsibility for interstate cases, and acts as a consultant to the Judiciary on probation matters. The state also manages a line operation Intensive Supervision Program.

Assignment Judges of each judicial district make recommendations for Vicinage Chief Probation Officers. These individuals are appointed by the Director of the AOC with the approval of the Chief Justice. Assignment Judges also appoint Probation Officers, fix salaries and administer day to day operations of the local probation departments. Operating costs are paid for primarily by the counties.

The State Parole Board, which consists of four full-time members appointed by the Governor, has the authority to parole adult offenders committed to the Corrections Department; make recommendations to the Governor in cases of clemency or pardons; consider those cases recommended by the Probation and Parole Division for parole discharge; and supervise parolees through periodic reports from the Probation and Parole Division.

All adult probationers and parolees are supervised by the Probation and Parole Division of the Corrections Department. In addition to supervision, Probation and Parole staff perform executive clemency investigations for the Governor's office, and prepare presentence investigation reports for the courts. Probation and Parole supervises a Transitional Employment Opportunity Program for adult parolees and operates a Community Corrections Program, intensive supervision programs and electronic monitoring/house arrest programs.

The District Courts administered juvenile probation services until July 1989 when they were transferred to the Youth Authority, a new state agency. These services, along with juvenile parole services, are under the Youth Authority's Community Services Division. The Division is comprised of thirteen Juvenile Probation and Parole Offices and community based programs and services. The programs are administered by private providers through 42 contracts with the Youth Authority. Five district offices will be established to oversee and coordinate daily operations of the Division.

NEW YORK

The Board of Parole is an administrative body within the Division of Parole possessing the powers and duties specified in Executive Law, Section 259C. The Board consists of 19 full-time members appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate for six-year terms. Board members are assigned to interview panels on a continually rotating basis.

The Division of Parole is responsible for the community supervision of offenders released from prison by action of the Parole Board or by conditional release. The Division is an organizational unit of the State's Executive Department. The Chairperson of the Board of Parole is the Chief Executive Officer of the Division.

Parole Officers are the Division's line personnel and are usually assigned to an area office or a correctional facility. Parole Officers assigned to a correctional facility guide and direct inmates during their period of incarceration. These Parole Officers help inmates develop positive attitudes and behavior, motivate participation in appropriate programs, and prepare inmates for their Board interviews and eventual release to the community. Parole Officers assigned to an area field office supervise and guide parolees during the period of adjustment from incarceration to community reintegration. Parole Officers are peace officers who are trained in the use of firearms.

The New York State Division of Probation and Correctional Alternatives was established within the Executive Department of the State of New York and is empowered by Section 243 of the Executive Law to oversee the practice of probation and alternatives to incarceration. Within this mandate, the Division's prime focus is on ensuring that effective probation and alternatives to incarceration services are available to all communities, and on maximizing community-based management of offenders, juvenile delinquents, and persons in need of supervision. The Division's programs are intended to provide a continuum of sanctions, methods of supervision, and approaches to treatment which, when used individually or in combination, provide viable options to the judiciary and to the state's criminal justice system for the effective management of offenders and program participants.

The Division for Youth, which cares for youth placed and sentenced by the family and criminal courts of New York State for offenses committed under the age of 16, provides aftercare supervision on a regional basis for those placed by the Family Courts. For those youth sentenced to the Division by the adult courts for certain violent offenses, parole supervision is provided by the Division of Parole.

A home detention monitoring system must combine accuracy, reliability and cost-effectiveness. MEMS provides positive visual identification and is uniquely humane.

Uncommonly Accurate. Uniquely Humane.

The visual telephone displays in Mitsubishi Electronic Monitoring Systems (MEMS) put you face-to-face with your clients. It allows more time for your special clients, and provides unprecedented accuracy.

Secure for adult clients. MEMS offers simple, accurate and interactive monitoring. Clients do not wear devices, and procedures are uncomplicated. Through positive visual identification, MEMS eliminates the false alarms associated with active systems. And with MEMS, everything can be reused, over and over again.

Positive on-site alcohol detection. No other system can verify both the alcohol level and the identity of the person at the same time. A MEMS computer calls the client, who is asked to breathe into a special breath analyzer.* A picture with a digital readout is sent to the monitoring station, verifying the client's identity and alcohol level.

Ideal for juveniles. MEMS does not require ankle or wrist bracelets that can add to a juvenile's stigma. The system allows efficient curfew checks or confirmation of a juvenile's presence. Since most are accustomed to the TV and telephone, they're familiar with MEMS technology.

Easy automated operation. MEMS doesn't require constant manning. A personal computer, capable of making 4 calls at once, maintains data on a maximum caseload of 250. Pre-programmed functions are executed automatically, so the MEMS operator need not be a skilled technician.

You're linked to clients via VisiTel® displays, which send and receive still pictures in just seconds over ordinary phone lines. The computer not only calls clients at random, but asks them to perform specific tasks. With over 1,000 different instructions in the computer's memory, it can't be second-guessed.

A time/date generator and two printers provide hardcopies of data or pictures, in any format required by your agency. The system even alerts you of a client's non-compliance and will immediately call a designated person who can then remotely access detailed information from MEMS.

For small caseloads Mitsubishi also offers a manual system. It uses the same VisiTel® displays as the automated MEMS, so you can upgrade later with minimum expense.

MEMS is surprisingly inexpensive to rent, buy and maintain. With our rental program, all system upgrades are free. And we're easy to reach. We offer 4-hour telephone response and 48-hour on-site repair service. Best of all, MEMS is backed by Mitsubishi, a name synonymous with quality and dependability.

Look into MEMS today. Call us toll-free at 1-800-422-5862 for all of the details.

The Parole Commission is the sole releasing authority for male and female adult inmates. The five commissioners are appointed by the Governor. The Commission is funded through the Department of Correction but is responsible only to the Governor.

The Division of Adult Probation and Parole is responsible for the supervision of all adult probationers and parolees; it has no releasing authority. The Director of the Divison is ultimately responsible to the Secretary of the Department of Correction.

The Juvenile Services Division of the Administrative Office of the Courts is responsible for juvenile intake, probation and aftercare. Juvenile probationers are supervised by Juvenile Court Counselors. A juvenile is released from an institution at the discretion of the staff of the institution except when committed for a definite term and in cooperation with a prerelease conference with a court counselor. There is no juvenile parole board as such.

The Parole Board is a completely autonomous agency with authority to parole adults. Its three part-time members are appointed by the Governor.

The State Pardon Board is completely autonomous with authority to pardon adults. By state statute, this three-member, part-time board is comprised of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, the Attorney General, and the Governor.

All adult parolees and probationers are supervised by the Division of Parole and Probation under the newly created (July 1, 1989) Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation. The Division also makes presentences for courts.

Juvenile probation services are administered on the local level by the County Juvenile Supervisor in each judicial district.

The Division of Juvenile Services receives court granted custody of juvenile delinquent and unruly youth and is responsible for all case management services including aftercare. The Division is also now a part of the newly created Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation.

OHIO

The Division of Parole and Community Services, Department of Rehabilitation and Correction, is responsible for community based correctional programs, facilities and services. It is comprised of three bureaus: the Adult Parole Authority, Community Services, and Adult Detention Facilities. Each bureau is headed by an administrator who reports to the Chief of the Division. The Parole Board of the Adult Parole Authority has parole authority over adult felons. In addition to the seven full-time paid members, nine hearing officers expand the function of the Parole Board.

All parolees and selected probationers referred by the common pleas courts on a contract basis are supervised by the officers of the Adult Parole Authority. Currently, 48 of the 88 counties in the state contract with the Adult Parole Authority for probation services. In the remaining counties, probation services are provided by county probation departments.

Adjudicated juvenile delinquents who have committed offenses, which if committed by adults would be considered felonies under the Ohio Revised Code, may be placed in the custody of the Department of Youth Services for treatment in institutions. Minimum sentences of six or twelve months are determined by offense classification. An early release program does exist. Upon release from the institution, the child enters aftercare status of one of eight regional offices operated by the DYS. They remain in custody of the DYS until discharge or their 21st birthday. Parole revocation hearings are conducted in the committing court.

Probation of juveniles is provided by probation officers who are appointed by a juvenile court judge.

OKLAHOMA

The Pardon and Parole Board is the paroling authority for adult offenders. The Board has five part-time members, three appointed by the Governor, one by the Court of Criminal Appeals, and one by the Supreme Court. The Board, a separate state agency, recommends paroles, commutations and pardons to the Governor who has the final decision.

The Division of Probation and Parole, under the Department of Corrections, provides statewide probation and parole supervision for adults.

Within the Department of Human Services, the Division of Children and Youth Services' Program Services Unit provides probation services in all but three counties where there are juvenile bureaus. Paroles for juveniles are granted by an administrative parole board. Supervision of juvenile intake, probation and parole are through eleven district offices of the Program Services Unit.

The Board of Parole is the paroling authority for adult offenders. Its five full-time members are appointed by and are responsible to the Governor but serve as an independent body. The Community Services Division of the Department of Corrections provides parole services, presentence investigation and probation services to adult offenders assigned to the agency and also administers the Community Corrections Act (CCA). The Release Center is responsible for parole and discharge planning and placement of adult felons. Community Corrections Act legislation provides funds to local units of government to plan, develop and deliver correctional sanctions and services at the local level. The overall purpose is to provide local sentencing options in lieu of imprisonment in state institutions. There are nine CCA departments serving ten counties providing probation, parole and other services.

Parole supervision of juveniles is provided by the Children's Services Division's Office of Juvenile Correctional Services. Probation for juveniles is a function of the individual county juvenile courts.

The Board of Probation and Parole, a state agency, is responsible for the parole release and revocation decisions and supervision of all adult offenders receiving a sentence of two years or more. Offenders sentenced to a maximum sentence of less than two years are paroled by county courts and supervised by county probation departments. The Board consists of five full-time members, appointed by the Governor with the consent of a majority of the Senate members to serve staggered, renewable six-year terms. Board members are prohibited from engaging in any other employment or political activity.

The Board also has authority to supervise probation cases and offenders sentenced to confinement with a maximum of less than two years when paroled and referred to the Board by the county courts. The Board has only supervision authority in these special cases; county courts retain authority to revoke, terminate or other judicial actions. The Board is responsible, by state statute, for establishing uniform statewide standards for county adult probation services. It also administers a Grant-in-Aid Program which provides funds to counties for the improvement of county adult probation services.

The Board of Pardons, a five-member board, includes the Lieutenant Governor and the Attorney General serving as specified by the state constitution. Three additional members are appointed by the Governor and serve part-time. The Board hears petitions for executive clemency.

Within the context of the Juvenile Court Act, the state provides institutions for juveniles but the counties administer juvenile services, i.e., probation aftercare (the term parole is not used). The Juvenile Court Judges' Commission is responsible for advising juvenile courts concerning the proper care and maintenance of delinquent children; establishing standards governing the administrative practices and judicial procedures used in juvenile courts; examining personnel practices and employment standards used in probation offices; collecting, compiling and publishing juvenile court statistics; and administering a grant-in-aid program to improve county juvenile probation services. Commission staff also provides training for juvenile probation officers. The Commission is comprised of nine juvenile court judges appointed by the Governor.

SOUTH CAROLINA

The Board of Probation, Parole and Pardon Services is composed of seven members who serve six-year staggered terms. The members are appointed by the Governor with consent of the Senate, one from each of the six congressional districts with one member-at-large.

The Department of Probation, Parole and Pardon Services supervises adults placed on probation by the court, paroled by the Board and inmates in early release programs created by the legislature to relieve prison crowding. They also develop a range of supervision programs, some as alternatives to incarceration, for use by the judiciary as sentencing options. Vested in the Board is the authority to grant paroles, to restore citizenship rights through pardon, and to oversee the operation of the Department.

The Department of Youth Services' Office of Community Programs is responsible for providing intake, probation and aftercare (parole) services and prevention and diversion programs. The state is divided into six regions with geographic boundaries coinciding with the sixteen judicial circuits. Each region has a supervisor responsible for the management of a multicounty area. A ten-member Juvenile Parole Board reviews the records and progress of children committed to the custody of the agency for the purpose of deciding the releases and revocations of releases of such children.

The Office of Treatment is responsible for providing the psychological and medical treatment needed by juveniles in both the institutional and community setting. The Office also contains a Parole Division which provides support staff for the Juvenile Parole Board and acts as a liaison between the institutions and community while the child is committed to the correctional facility.

TENNESSEE

The Board of Paroles is an autonomous five-member full-time Board appointed by the Governor to six-year staggered terms. They conduct all parole hearings, make recommendations to the Governor on executive clemency, and supervise parolees through parole officers in Parole Field Services.

The Division of Probation supervises adult probationers. Before the July 1, 1989 separation of adult and juvenile services, the Division also provided aftercare services to counties for juveniles.

The newly created Department of Youth Development provides probation and aftercare services for juvenile offenders through its Probation Division. Several cities and/or counties maintain separate residential services and probation departments for juveniles. There is no juvenile parole board. A commitment may be either indeterminate or determinate. The release date for a juvenile is determined by the Department of Youth Development with the approval of the Juvenile Court Judge. Indeterminate releases are based on recommendations made by the superintendents of the youth development centers where juveniles reside, with approval by the Commissioner of Youth Development and the committing judge. Determinate sentence releases are authorized after the completion of the sentence with incentive time figured at approximately 30 percent. The majority of juveniles released from youth development centers, group homes, or contract programs are placed on aftercare status following their return to their home community.

The Board of Pardons and Paroles is an independent agency which reviews cases and determines parole eligibility. The six members of the Board and nine parole commissioners act in panels for purposes of parole selection. The Board's Division of Parole Supervision is responsible for parole supervision and preparole investigations in ten geographic regions. The Board also establishes necessary parole and mandatory supervision policy within statutory limits and represents the state in dealing with other states under the Interstate Probation and Parole Compact.

Adult probation supervision is provided by the Adult Probation Commission, an independent agency which establishes standards and provides funds for district adult probation departments. The 117 district departments are under the administration of the District Courts; officers are employees of the courts.

The Board of Pardons is a three-member full-time board having full parole, pardon and commutation authority over all sentenced prisoners. The function is to determine when and under what conditions release from confinement or retaking of parole shall occur. Board members serve six-year terms, and are appointed by the Governor. Although administratively related to the Department of Corrections, the Board's decision-making authority is autonomous and uninfluenced.

The Field Operations Division of the Department of Corrections provides adult probation and parole supervision and administers community correctional centers. In addition, the Department of Corrections contracts with private providers throughout the state for both residential and non-residential services fulfilling needs for which resources are not available within the state structure. The Division of Youth Corrections, within the Department of Social Services provides supervision of releasees from juvenile institutions. The Division has its own paroling authority, the Youth Paroling Authority, which has jurisdiction of all youth committed to the Division by the juvenile court. The Youth Parole Authority consists of five part-time members and is the sole releasing authority for juvenile offenders committed to the Division for secure confinement. The members are appointed to three-year terms by the Board of Youth Corrections.

On July 1, 1987, the Division assumed full administrative and operational responsibility for the state's detention centers. The Division is also responsible for establishing and monitoring standards for licensing all programs in the state that provide services specifically for delinquent youth.

Juvenile intake and probation is administered in districts by probation officers under the juvenile court system.

VERMONT

The Board of Parole is a completely autonomous agency appointed by the Governor. Its five part-time members have jurisdiction over male and female adult offenders.

Adult probation and parole services come under the jurisdiction of the Department of Corrections whose commissioner reports to the secretary of the Agency of Human Services. Area Managers supervise all probation, parole and institutional functions within a geographic region of the state. Their purpose is to insure a continuum of comprehensive services to all offenders.

There is no longer any functional juvenile parole system. Children in custody go into placements and eventually return to their communities where supervision is the responsibility of the caseworker.

Juvenile probation services are provided by the Agency of Human Services, Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services' Division of Social Services through twelve district offices responsible as well for the supervision of delinquents who are in the state's custody.

The Parole Board is a separate, autonomous body reporting only to the Governor through the secretary of Transportation and Public Safety. It is comprised of five full-time members who are responsible for assessing those persons eligible for parole, granting of parole when appropriate, discharge of those who satisfactorily complete the parole period, and revoking those cases where delinquency is established.

The Division of Adult Community Corrections under the Department of Correction administers 39 probation-parole districts, community diversion programs and liaison with local jails.

Release to aftercare supervision and the supervision of all juveniles placed on probation are administered by the Division of Youth Services, Department of Corrections. The Division of Youth Services is slated to become an independent agency as the Department of Youth Services on July 1, 1990.

WASHINGTON

The Indeterminate Sentence Review Board is an independent, five-member Board whose functions include adjusting minimum terms, paroling, revoking parole and discharging from parole all adult offenders sentenced to prison prior to July 1, 1984. It also must facilitate the transition from the indeterminate sentence model to the determinate sentence model now in effect in the state.

Within the Department of Corrections, the Division of Community Services is responsible for the supervision of adult probationers, parolees, interstate cases, and cases supervised under the provision of the Sentencing Reform Act. Probation services in several forms remain available for first time non-violent and other selected offenders.

There is no juvenile parole board. The release dates for juveniles is determined by the Division of Juvenile Rehabilitation under the Department of Social and Health Services. Juvenile parole services are provided throughout the state by six regional offices.

Juvenile probation services are provided in each county at the local level. Thirty-three probation offices have been established to serve the 39 counties.

WEST VIRGINIA

The Board of Probation and Parole, comprised of three full-time members who are appointed by the Governor, is the paroling authority for adults. After the minimum sentence is served, the Board recommends parole.

The Department of Corrections releases and supervises the releasees. The Department also administers adult and juvenile interstate compact cases for probation and parole.

The Supreme Court of Appeals maintains probation departments that are responsible for providing probationary supervision services to all adults and many juveniles. Per statute, juveniles return to the committing court for institutional release, considered probation, as release is judicially determined. These juveniles are supervised by the Department of Human Services in some cases and by the West Virginia Supreme Court Probation Offices in others. In approximately 60% of the cases, the Department of Human Services also provides the courts with juvenile probation officers.

WISCONSIN

The Secretary of the Department of Health and Social Services is the paroling authority for the state. The Parole Board, made up of six full-time members and a chairperson, is a part of the executive office. The chairperson orders release on parole by authority delegated by the Secretary.

Supervision of adult parolees and probationers is the responsibility of the Bureau of Community Corrections under the Department of Health and Social Services' Division of Corrections. The Bureau employs 700 people througout six geographic regions.

The Juvenile Offender Review Program's function is to make recommendations to the Secretary of the Department of Health and Social Services pertaining to release of juvenile offenders.

Juvenile probationers are usually supervised by county social services departments. Supervision of juvenile parolees is the responsibility of the Bureau of Juvenile Services, Division of Corrections, except that counties have the option to provide their own parole/aftercare services and some have elected to provide this service.

WYOMING

The paroling authority for adults is vested in the Parole Board. The Governor appoints all five members for six-year terms. Duties include granting and revoking paroles, recommending commutation of sentences to the Governor, and inmate review upon attainment of minimum sentence.

The Department of Probation and Parole, an independent agency reporting only to the Governor, provides a statewide system of probation and parole services for both adults and juveniles. There are exceptions to this state system in that several municipalities and counties have juvenile probation counselors and/or diversion counselors.

US PAROLE COMMISSION

The United States Parole Commission, an independent agency placed within the Department of Justice for administrative purposes, has jurisdiction over all eligible federal prisoners, and continuing jurisdiction over those who are released on parole or mandatory release. On a cooperative basis the Commission uses the services of staff employed by the Bureau of Prisons. That staff prepares classification summaries, progress reports and other reports concerning parole applicants.

Field supervision of released prisoners is provided by Federal Probation Officers, who are employed by the United States District Courts. They function as "parole officers" and prepare reports concerning the adjustment of parolees for the Commission.

Federal Pretrial Services Officers and Probation Officers serve U.S. District Courts in 94 judicial districts located throughout the United States. Pretrial Services Officers conduct bail investigations on persons charged with federal offenses as well as supervise defendants released pending final disposition and those placed on pretrial diversion. Federal probation officers conduct presentence investigations for the court on defendants pending sentence, while also performing other investigative functions at the request of the Bureau of Prisons and the U.S. Parole Commission.

Supervision is extended by federal probation officers to those persons placed on probation, paroled from institutions by action of the U.S. Parole Commissiion or military authorities, and those on supervised release imposed to follow a period of confinement under the Sentencing Reform Act of 1984 (enactment of federal sentencing guidelines).

Legal Issues for Probation and Parole Officers Correspondence Course

The daily work of probation and parole officers presents many legal issues and potential liabilities. This 40-hour correspondence course details the legal concepts that apply to these fields, especially with an eye to helping officers avoid lawsuits–and to defending themselves if one is inevitable. 1988, 2 volumes, books, tests, certificate (#169 $40.00; no member discount)

Book I – The Legal Environment (20 hours)
Book II – Legal Liability (20 hours)

Intermediate Punishments: Intensive Supervision, Home Confinement and Electronic Surveillance

Belinda R. McCarthy, editor

Sanctions that exist somewhere between incarceration and probation, "intermediate punishments," are often a direct response to prison crowding. This book examines in detail three forms these sanctions can take and the benefits and problems each poses. Specific working models serve as practical examples. 1987, 203 pages, charts (#367 $25.00; no member discount)

Alternative Sentencing A Practitioner's Guide

Andrew R. Klein

Alternative sentences, such as probation, restitution, community service, mandatory treatment, and monetary sanctions, have gained considerable popularity recently due to crowding. However, these sanctions will not be used to their fullest potential until the myth that incarceration is the only safe option for serious offenders is dispelled. This book details the ways in which substantial sanctions and controls can be fashioned for serious, even violent offenders without incarceration and without subjecting the community to increased risk of harm. 1988, 350 pages (#387 $19.95; no member discount)

Potential Liabilities of Probation and Parole Officers

Rolando V. del Carmen

A vital manual detailing why lawsuits against officers have increased so dramatically, the basic elements of such suits, and specific areas of liability, including probation presentence reports and parole investigation. Also covers supervisory liability and recent court decisions. 1986, 202 pages (#363 $18.95; no member discount)

Probation & Parole, Electronic Surveillance: Correctional Issues

The faces of probation and parole are changing. This collection of articles examines both fields in-depth--their philosophy, administration, training, motivation, and new directions. Also contains readings on the increasingly popular use of electronic surveillance, with a close look at several states' programs plus a helpful reference list. 1988, 110-page spiral-bound resource package (#373 Nonmembers: $10.00; ACA members: $8.00)

Community-managed Corrections And Other Solutions to America's Prison Crisis

Lauen, who has 15 years of community corrections experience, examines the social and political factors affecting crime and sentencing AND offers some new ideas and effective remedies. Must reading for corrections professionals, legislators, and criminal justice students. 1988, 152 pages (#379 Nonmembers: $16.95; ACA members: $13.95)

Learn how criminals observe and select victims, gain their confidence and sympathy, and make demands. Includes sample situations and case studies. 1981, 240 pages, hardbound (#359 $15.50; no member discount)
